

Diamond Drill

Out of the Past

May 19, 1976

Fred Slivensky, owner of Slivensky Builders and Supply Company (300 Crystal Avenue), has recently secured a dealership for Copper Country Homes, a manufactured modular business based in Mohawk, Michigan. Slivensky, who has been working as a carpenter since 1949, is in the process of erecting the first modular home on a lot he owns north of the Pleasant Valley Apartments (308 N. Fifth St.). The tri-level structure features three bedrooms, large kitchen-dining area, spacious living room, one-half full basement and attached one car garage. A bonus is the exceptional view afforded of the Paint River Valley.

C. Joseph Schwedler (27) a native of Bad Axe, Michigan, has joined the law firm of Casanova & Ryan (410 Superior) after being sworn into the Michigan Bar Association by Judge Ernest Brown. Schwedler, a U.S. Army Veteran who served nine months in Viet Nam, graduated from the Thomas M. Cooley Law School in Lansing in December 1975 and also holds a degree from the University of Detroit where he majored in history and economics. He and his wife Susan moved to Crystal Falls several months ago.

THE FIRST Copper Country Home was erected on its foundation at the Slivensky subdivision two weeks ago, and last weekend a public open house drew many interested persons to the site to look it over. In the first photo, a large crane is shown lifting half of the home onto the foundation, while the lower photo shows the home as it appeared this weekend. The tri-level design features three bedrooms, a large kitchen-dining area and spacious living room. The basement is one-half full size and the other half storage. There is a one-car garage. The house was beautifully set off with furnishings and carpeting from Plowe Furniture Store.

la
sa
W
w e
p f
b
a
C
e
f r

a
e
c
v
r
a
i t
c

CASANOVA & RYAN took in a new partner in the person of C. Joseph Schwedler last Friday, when he was sworn in and admitted to the Bar by Judge Brown. Schwedler, center, who has been working in the law offices for the past few months, recently passed his state bar examination. Pete Ryan is on the left, and O. G. Casanova, senior partner, is at the right.