

Diamond Drill

Out of the Past

November 27, 1897

Crystal Falls Officials have observed people driving over the iron bridge crossing the Paint River at the bottom of Superior Avenue faster than a walk which has greatly injured the structure. The bridge has been repaired for a second time lately and unless some provisions are made to stop this practice further damage will be done. Signs on each end of the bridge warn people that a fine will imposed for driving faster than a walk.

The Crystal Falls Literary and Debating Society was organized on Monday. The object of the Society is to afford a profitable and pleasant way of passing away some of the long winter evenings. Meetings will be held on the second and fourth Friday of the month with the first meeting scheduled for December 10th.

A two and a half horsepower steam engine has been installed to run the printing presses at the Diamond Drill.
