Out of the Past

October 26, 1961

Dr. Robert and Barbara Stelle has invited the public to an open house at their newly completed home (701 State St) located on what the locals call “Pill Hill” due to the fact that Dr. E.R. Addison’s also has a residence there. The modern double-level ranch style home is perched on a hill that overlooks the large valley south of the Crystal Falls City Limits. The Stelle’s self-designed the residence and was built in four months by workmen without the benefit of a complete set of blueprints but only rough sketches.

Mrs. Wanda Stockero has moved her Fashion Shoppe up the street from 224 Superior since 1948 to 316 Superior formerly occupied by Rezin’s Drug Store since 1935. The history of the lot, known as the Schook building, dates back to the early 1890’s where a series of livery businesses occupied the space. Wanda has a long business history on Main Street beginning in 1944 when she first operated a beauty salon on the upper floor of the F&S Building (336 Superior).

THE LOW PROFILE and extensive use of glass are the eye-catching features of this new home recently occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stelle and family, Crystal Falls. The house will be open to public inspection from 4 until 6 p. m. on Saturday when an open house will be held in honor of the workmen who completed the modern home in four months. The above view does not show all of the house, which is perched on the southern lip of a hill that overlooks miles of lowland to the south of the city.
