January 4, 1896

Hardwood lumber was manufactured in Menominee for the first time last winter. At that time it was an experiment but this year at least five mills will be processing hardwood on a permanent basis. The hardwood timber gathered from the logging companies of the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin will be processed into flooring and siding lumber. Due to the fact that the hardwood logs harvested from area forests do not float, it will have to be hauled to the mills by railroad.

The young son of Thomas McCusker was quite badly injured while coasting of Superior Avenue.
