

Diamond Drill

Out of the Past

August 1, 1896

A general order has been issued by the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Company instructing the station agents and station baggage men to procure uniforms for themselves. The uniforms to be worn will be similar to those worn by passenger conductors with the exception of the caps which will have the word "Agent" in gold letters in place of "Conductor". The uniforms for the baggage men will have the word "Baggage-man" in white letters above the peak of the cap.

Deputy Game Warden Tromblay caught John Larson illegally engaged in lifting his gill nets from Fortune Lake. Larson pleaded guilty before Judge Roberts resulting in fine and costs amounting to $22.80 with the promise of discontinuing his unlawful work.

Paul Schook's new sample room (312 Superior) is one of the finest saloons in this portion of the Upper Peninsula. Recently renovated and decorated throughout in white and gold, including new card rooms which have been fitted up with an elegant hardwood floor.