Liquor violations still furnish the majority of crimes in Iron County as evidenced by the list of 80 prisoners incarcerated in the Iron County Jail during the past six months. Two items of mining news this week are of particular interest to the Crystal Falls District. McKinney Steel Co. has changed its name to Corrigan, McKinney & Co. The new name brings back to the organization of the Corrigan interests which first originated from the bankruptcy of the Corrigan, Ives & Co. in 1894. Negotiations have been completed between the Oglebay-Norton Mining Co. and the Oliver Iron Mining Co. for a working of the Youngstown Mine from the Bristol Mine located in the northwestern section of Crystal Falls. The ore in the Youngstown which began operations in 1882 will be mined through the Bristol Mine shaft which began operations in 1890.
