

Diamond Drill

Out of the Past

November 23, 1923

Charles Bell has opened a photograph studio and gallery in Crystal Falls and asks the patronage of Crystal Falls' people needing his services. Mr. Bell spent the past year in a school of photography in Illinois and comes here fully qualified to give the community good quality work at an affordable price. His gallery is located in the former Charles Rogers Studio (411 Superior).

Dr. J.P. Edwards, health officer for Mastodon Township and Alpha Village has reported that the local water supply is of highest quality unusually free from mineral solids as compared to other water supplies in the State. The water source is a spring and diamond drill hole located northeast of Alpha about one-half mile from the occupied portion of the Village. Local authorities got permission from the owner and seized upon this source for their local water which had otherwise flowed into Mastodon Creek.

Amos Adonzo Stagg has branded professional football as a menace working for the destruction of the college game and urging people to refrain from any manner of encouraging the professional sport.