Out of the Past

October 17, 1924

The Mastodon Township Board of Education extended the rule adopted last year which compels teachers to be in their homes or boarding places at midnight during the nights of all days upon which they must teach the following day. In other words teachers can be out after hours only on Friday and Saturday nights. This rule was found to work well last year and for that reason it was continued this year. The adoption of the resolution is in no way a reflection on teachers in the Mastodon Schools as no complaint of any kind had been lodged against any of the teachers.
