

Diamond Drill

Out of the Past

August 31, 1895

Mining Captain C.T. Roberts's pet fawn is catching on to the ways of civilization. It has acquired the habit of chewing tobacco.

Deputy Game Warden Trombley arrested George Maas, supervisor of Mansfield Township, for having in his possession a set of buck horns still in the "velvet". Arraigned before Justice Rogan five men of the jury of "good men and true" voted for conviction but the sixth jurymen dissented and a "disagreement" resulted with Maas' star defense witness calling Prosecuting Attorney Michael Moriarty a liar of the blanket-blank variety.

The primary object in using a veil is not to conceal the face, hide the wearer from the recognition of her friends, put on an air of mystery or in any way disguise herself. She puts it on because it is heightening the beauty of her eyes, skin and lips making her look prettier, softer and more bewitching through the film of lace not so much a mask as an ornament.